The National Religious Broadcasters

The Backstory

The National Religious Broadcasters (NRB) is an international network of fundamentalist Christian communicators with an expansive amount of cultural and political influence.

NRB's 1400+ member organizations reach millions of viewers, listeners, and readers around the world with programming that poses grave threats to the human rights of LGBTQI people, women, Muslims, and other marginalized communities. Since 2005, NRB has also operated its own television channel, NRBTv, available to more than 48 million U.S. households.

All 1400+ NRB member organizations are bound by an explicit mandate in NRB's Code of Ethics banning homosexuals and their allies, which effectively promotes hate even to the point of inciting violence against LGBTQI people around the world. Their messaging sews the cultural and political seeds of immense self-loathing, shame and fear.

Additionally, the NRB serves as a significant strategy arm of the Christian Right for bolstering violent institutional practices like targeted "religious freedom" laws and anti-transgender policy creation through a faith-based rhetoric.

“My world was interrupted with some tragic deaths [recently]. In downtown Orlando, there is a place, a dark place, filled with sin, where people were put to death...People were killed, because people are wicked.”

-RC Sproul

Orlando-area pastor, chancellor of Reformation Bible College, and NRB '17 Keynote Speaker

We with Soulforce demand that the NRB...

REPENT: Take responsibility for the specific ways your theologies instigate violence against our people. Stop spreading hate through your toxic theologies.

REPAIR: Change your code of ethics to quell the violent targeting of LGBTQI people and their allies among your affiliates.

RECONCILE: Meet with us to come and acknowledge the truth of the living God: That we are all made in the image of the Divine.

"Uncleanness – whatever is opposite of purity; including sodomy, homosexuality, lesbianism, pederasty, bestiality, and, all other forms of sexual perversion."

"There are illnesses and diseases that are more poignantly connected to homosexuality than typically heterosexual relationships...We have to leave that with God, because God determines the consequences, we don't."

-Pastor Tony Evans
